Only 22 days till Christmas.

December's as pleasant as May.

Maybe that Chicago woman who tried to caress Mr. Bryan had Hobson in mind.

W. J. Cox and Lee Gibson will have a run off primary in Hopkins to decide which one will run for circuit Judge.

The girl's dormitory at the Knoxville, Tenn., industrial school was burned by a fire started by a 15-year-old girl, not mentally responsible. No lives were lost.

The amusement center at the Panama Exposition will be called "The Zone." It takes the place of the "Midway Plaisance," and "The Pike" at previous expositions.

The followers of both Villa and Zapata are now in Mexico City acting in concert, while Carranza's headquarters are at Vera Cruz. They say a vigorous campaign will be pushed.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, commander of the U. C. V., and Gen. D. J. Palmer, commander of the G. A. R., recently had their pictures taken standing side by side, each in the uniform he wore 50 years ago.

President Yuan Shi Hai, of China, dismissed from office the governor of a province who sent him a birthday present after he had announced that he did not approve of birthday presents, as in the case of the former emperor.

Provisional President Gutierrez has entered Mexico City with Villa's army of 25,000 men. Villa narrowly escaped death Monday night in a railroad collision that killed 32 soldiers and wounded 40. His train also passed over six mines that did not go off and were found the next morning.

London's eleven professional football clubs adopted resolutions denouncing newspaper agitation against football as "unscrupulous, unwarrantable, undignified and wholly opposed to English tradition, and an abuse of the liberty of the press." The resolutions declare, however, that the clubs will close their grounds simultaneously with the closing of the race courses, golf links, theaters and picture palaces.

When Mrs. F. P. Price, wife of a Minneapolis business man, rushed to the edge of a 100-foot embankment near the Town and Country Club to save her French poodle, which stood looking over the brink, the earth beneath her crumbled. A scream attracted her husband, who was busy about his motor car nearby, and he reached the spot just as she plunged through the darkness to her death. The dog fell, but was uninjured.

Secretary Bryan delivered a lecture in Chicago Sunday night and after his address, a young woman, one of a line formed to shake his hands, attempted to embrace him. The young woman said that she was "Miss Lowe," and declared that she was a cousin of Mr. Bryan and that she was going to give him a hug. She attempted to do so, but Mr. Bryan evaded the caress, saying that he did not know her.

A majority of the supreme court joined in an opinion that the Oklahoma "Jim Crow" law proviso permitting railroads to furnish sleeping, dining and chair car accommodations only to the white race was unconstitutional, but they did not so decree because of imperfections in the petition on which the case reached the courts. In the opinion by the majority, Justice Hughes stated that previous decisions that laws for separate coaches for the two races were constitutional were not to be questioned. He then set forth the reasons for the opinion that the lower court was wrong in holding the proviso constitutional.

STAMPS ARE HARD TO GETImpossible To Secure The War
Tax Stamps In Time.

ORDER HAS BEEN ISSUED.

No One Will Be Prosecuted
Who Does Not Try To Dodge The Law.

Thousands of persons in many cities who spent hours Tuesday rushing the offices of internal revenue collectors, alarmed because they could not obtain war revenue stamps, were needlessly frightened over what might happen if they were not on the minute with their stamping. The internal revenue bureau in the treasury department, itself much worried over the task of getting the law into smooth working order, found time late in the day to send information to collectors, making it plain, and orders no prosecution of persons who are willingly but unable to buy stamps. Instructions say:

"Date all special tax returns November 30 until you can handle applications promptly, unless you have information that no effort was made to file same prior to that date. If unable to supply demands for documentary stamps for bills of lading, permit shipments to go forward, have record kept and affix or cancel stamps when received. Notify railroads."

By this notice the commissioners' office expected to relieve a situation which promised to become embarrassing to thousands of individuals, and might have brought much confusion to railroads and shippers.

As an illustration of the vast number of stamps reported, it was pointed out that virtually every article in drug stores is subject to tax. Many drug stores carry possibly 100,000 such taxable articles, and there are thousands of drug stores throughout the country.

The bureau made public a ruling that certificates issued by officers of a state in the interest of the state are not subject to the tax. Certificates issued by an officer of the government at the request of private persons solely for private use must be stamped.

In this city business is going ahead as usual with the understanding that the stamps will be attached as soon as they can be secured.

Judge Hanbery at Home.

Judge J. T. Hanbery finished his court at Murray last week and is spending this week at home. Next Monday he goes to Cadiz for two weeks and will then have a month's recess.

JOHN QUARLES
IN LOCK-UPOn Charge of Passing Two
Forged Checks For $7
Each.

John Quarles, a one-legged negro, a son of John Henry Quarles, is under arrest charged with passing two $7 checks on the First National Bank to which Mrs. Edmund Harrison's name had been forged. The boy's mother has been a nurse for Mrs. Harrison, whose health is not good. The first check was presented Saturday and went through without question. The second one was presented Tuesday morning and Cashier Bailey Russell's suspicions were aroused by the name being Mrs. Edward Harrison, and investigation disclosed the fact that both checks were forgeries. The last $7 was recovered by Chief Roper, but the first sum had been spent. Quarles is held on the very serious charge of forgery and passing forged checks. He lost his leg some years ago, being shot and wounded so badly that amputation was necessary.

FOUR KINGS
PLAY HANDKaiser, Czar, King of England and King of Belgium All Watch
Soldiers Fight, While Pres. of France is on Way to Front.

GERMANS BREAK THE RUSSIAN LINES.

By Desperate Fighting Kaiser's Men Prevent Great Defeat
Which Appeared Imminent—Allies Advance in Argonne and Near Lys River.

London, Dec. 2.—The battle in northern Poland is being fought out under the eyes of the German emperor on one side and the Russian emperor on the other. These two monarchs left for the front Tuesday so that virtually the heads of all the nations at war are with their troops.

The king of England is in France; the king of Belgium, as usual is spending all of his time with his soldiers, while President Poincare of France started Tuesday for another visit to the northern battlefield.

Official news from Poland continues scanty, and, with both headquarters claiming successes, it is impossible to say how the battle is going. Of its intensity, however, there can be no doubt.

The Germans, when they started for Warsaw, dashed full tilt into a mass of Russian troops and forced their way so far in that the Russians closed on them. This was taken in Petrograd to mean that some of the German divisions had been cut off and that their surrender or annihilation was inevitable.

It appears, however, that, fighting for their very lives and in the knowledge that a great defeat would end the German offensive and compel them to fall back on their own frontiers, the German troops broke through the Russian lines at one place and at another in holding their entrenchments against all the Russian attacks. Their flanks are still being harassed by the Cossacks, but seemingly the Russians are not now in a position to gain the sweeping victory they had anticipated.

The losses, with the desperate fighting that has been going on for a fortnight, must necessarily be very heavy on both sides.

Against the Austro-German forces in the south the Russians continue to gain more decisive results. They now hold all Austrian positions protecting the Carpathian passes and are said to have arrived abreast of Cracow, while their captures for three weeks number 50,000 men.

In the west, although the German official report says there is nothing to communicate, the French official statement notes that a lively cannonade in Belgium and German activity north of Arras. This may mean the Germans have commenced, or are about to commence, another attempt to get through French ports. Certainly there are important changes in the dispositions of the German troops.

Military men here take opposing camps, one side believing the Germans will rest content with holding their positions until the close of the battle in Poland, where they need all the men they can get, while the other looks for an immediate resumption of the battle in northern France and Flanders.

The Germans, too, are strongly fortifying Zeebrugge and other Belgian ports against a renewal of attacks by the allied fleet. Fighting around Ypres was due to the allies pushing their lines forward.

NEGRO HUNTERS

Guns.

ONE OF THEM ARRESTED.

The Boy's Wounds Are Not Considered Very Serious.

J. B. Leavell and Cortez Leavell, young negroes, were hunting on the farm of C. F. Jackson at Casky, Monday, when Elza White, a young son of Summers White, a tenant on the farm, ordered them off the farm. After getting out in the road, one of the negroes shot young White with a load of birdshot, which took effect in his breast and the front part of his body and legs. They made their escape, but Sheriff Smith went to the scene as soon as notified and found and arrested J. B. Leavell.

Dr. Sandbach picked the shot out of White, whose injuries are not serious. The boy returned the fire when he was shot but did not hit the negroes. He shot four times and the negroes shot eight times, some of which were fired at the boy's father, who came up.

Baptist Campaign.

The first week of the Baptist revival campaign in Louisville showed 174 additions to the twenty-five white and nine negro congregations of Louisville during the first week. There will be two more weeks of the campaign. Services will be conducted at various factories at the noon hour each day. Rev. C. M. Thompson, this city, has been assisting in the meetings.

Work.

But little business came before the Fiscal court at the monthly meeting Tuesday.

The usual monthly claims were allowed and several road orders made.

Fairleigh Vaughn was given the contract to crush 1,000 yards for repair work on the Julien and Newstead pikes at 63 cents a yard.

John Alexander was given the contract for 1,000 yards on the Cox Mill road at 70 cents a yard.

John Alexander was allowed $140 for work on the Lafayette pike.

An appropriation of $50 was made to make repairs on the Highland Lick road near Pleasant Hill church. W. J. McGee, County Assessor, was allowed $450 for making the road tax assessment.

The court adjourned to meet first Tuesday in January.

County and Whip Man and Woman.

Princeton, Ky., Dec. 2.—The little village of Cedar Bluff, three miles east of this city, was visited at an early hour yesterday morning by an armed band of men. After cutting the telephone wires and firing pistols and shotguns, dynamite was placed under three cabins belonging to the Katterjohn Construction Company. Two of the cabins were greatly damaged by the explosion. The failure of the fuse to burn saved the third cabin.

Before making the attack it is said the night watchman at the Katterjohn construction works was captured and the magazine house broken into, from which dynamite was secured. The armed men forced the night watchman to stay with them until they got ready to leave the scene of action.

The band, according to reports, carried out their plans without talking, which showed them to be well drilled. The men wore masks and numbered about forty.

Also In Hopkins.

Earlington, Ky., Dec. 2.—Reliable information has just been received, giving details of another outrage by "possum hunters" in the southern part of Hopkins county on Wednesday night of last week. A man and a woman were whipped and otherwise brutally treated near Charleston. The man is a widower with several small children. The woman has been cooking and keeping house for the family. The man enjoys a good reputation.

A band of some twenty-five men went to the man's home the night before Thanksgiving and knocked the door down. The man and the woman were taken out into the night, were stripped and made to lie down in the road and there cruelly whipped; reliable report says they "were cut all to pieces." The report further says that the man was mutilated with a knife in addition to being horribly beaten, and he is said to be in a critical condition at his home. Both victims are under doctors' treatment.

Fear seems to tie men's tongues in that section and no effort is reported for the arrest and punishment of the raiders.

LOGSDON
RETIREDEvansville L. & N. Superintendent
Removed For Time For Benefit of Health.

J. W. Logsdon, of Evansville, superintendent of the St. Louis and Henderson division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, has been temporarily retired by the railroad company to allow him to take a rest. W. E. Smith, of Louisville, formerly superintendent of construction of the St. Louis & N. system, succeeded Mr. Logsdon December 1. Mr. Logsdon, who has been in ill health since last spring, when he was suddenly attacked while on a train coming from St. Louis, will go to Florida for several months and will later take a position in the general offices of the L. & N. at Louisville.

Superintendent Logsdon has been in the service of the L. & N. for 28 years. He began as a conductor and worked through the various ranks of the traffic department. He has been located at Evansville as superintendent for the last 14 years.

Examining Trials In The Renshaw Murder Case Concluded.

WILSON AND CHAFIN HELD.

Two Negro Women And One Man Are Released of Charge.

The examining trial was concluded in the Renshaw murder case Tuesday evening and Judge Walter Knight dismissed the charges against the two women arrested last week, Tip Leavell and Fannie Harper. The men, Ernest Wilson and Bulber Chafin, were held over to the grand jury.

Dillard Young, the first negro arrested soon after John M. Renshaw was fatally shot Sept. 25, was released Monday. Attorney Austin Play, of Clarksville, representing Young, had furnished satisfactory evidence to County Attorney Smith that Young was not here Sept. 25, in fact was a railroad hand who had never been in Hopkinsville until his arrest. He had been in jail at Henderson two months. It is noteworthy that he strongly resembles the negro Ernest Wilson. The evidence against Wilson and Chafin is largely circumstantial, but the court regarded it as strong enough to hold the mover.

OFFICERS
ELECTEDNew Tobacco Organization At Clarksville Ready For Business.

At a meeting held Monday of the incorporators of the Farmers' Co-Operative Tobacco Association Mr. D. T. Foust was elected chairman and Hervey Whitfield secretary. After Mr. Foust had announced that the object of the meeting was to elect directors and other officials, the body, which was composed of representatives from Cheatham, Logan and Montgomery counties, proceeded to elect the following directors for the ensuing year: Mr. G. S. Smith, Cheatham county, G. Wash Bailey, Logan county, C. C. Coke, C. D. Runyon and J. H. Smith, Montgomery county.

The directors then met and elected A. B. Killebrew as Salesman, Frank Hamlett, Inspector. It was then decided that the annual election for directors shall be held on the first Saturday in September, and that the number of directors shall not exceed ten, two-thirds of them to be farmers and one-third warehousemen. The by-laws were made to read that the charge of one-half of one per cent. shall be made for the sale of tobacco both in the hogshead and on loose floor. And that the old price of $1.75 is to be paid warehousemen for storage and inspection. The by-laws were then adopted. The contracts for prizes and warehousemen were agreed upon and all arrangements made to begin business when tobacco is ready to move.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Runyon, Coke and Killebrew was appointed to secure a building for salesroom and offices for the officials. During the session of these officials yesterday, Messrs. James West of Hopkinsville, and James Counts of Springfield, were in the city, and made some propositions of merging the two Associations, but they offered no concessions of any kind.—Leaf-Chronicle.

They express the opinion that the issue depends on whether these arrive in time.

TRUE VALUE OF WOOD LOT NOT REALIZED

Wood Lot Composed Mostly of Young White Oak in Excellent Condition—There is Thrifty Growth and Plenty of Young Trees Starting to Renew the Stand.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Most farmers already own wood lots; every farmer ought to own one. Yet the wood lot is frequently not a paying proposition financially, and is almost never as profitable as it should be. Why? Simply because the farmer does not realize its true value. As a result he neglects to care for the trees during their life, and is at a disadvantage when it comes to selling them. Any effort to improve present conditions must, therefore, take these two facts into consideration.

The essential point for every farmer to recognize, is that the trees in his wood lot are just as much a farm crop as are his corn, oats, hay, or other products. Moreover, they have many advantages over other crops—they require comparatively little care and labor; they can be harvested during the winter when other work is slack; there are no storage charges on the crop because trees can be left standing without deterioration an indefinite time until they can be sold profitably or used to advantage on the farm; and they furnish protection to buildings, to cattle, and to crops, from wind, drought and frost.

Unquestionably, then, the wood lot deserves better than the present neglect, or often worse, to which it is now subjected. No farmer would think for a moment of burning over a crop of young wheat. Yet that is just what many do with their crop of young trees. Nor is the damage confined to the young growth; even the larger trees, though seldom destroyed outright, are weakened so that eventually they will fall a prey to insects, fungi, or wind; furthermore, the fertility of the soil is greatly lessened by fires. Every fire that runs through a wood lot is a direct source of loss to the owner. The absolute exclusion of fire is, therefore, the first and most important step in the rational management of the wood lot.

Closely connected with this is the exclusion of stock, which do much damage in destroying and retarding young growth, particularly of broad-leaved trees, and in packing down the soil and exposing the roots of trees.

Finally, the farmer should select the trees to be cut in such a way as to improve rather than impair the wood lot. Too often the reverse has been the case and the wood lot has deteriorated steadily through the removal of the best trees, leaving the less valuable species and poorer individuals to take possession of the ground. No knowledge of technical forestry is necessary to enable the farmer to recognize the trees which are defective, crooked, unusually branched, or of undesirable species; or to realize that the cutting of these for fuel and other uses to which they can be put on the farm will greatly increase the value of the remaining stand.

Equally important with the raising of the crop is its final disposal. Every farmer knows what his wheat is worth and what is the best way to sell it. Very few have any similar knowledge regarding their trees. In that fact lies the real explanation of the present unprofitableness of the wood lot. So long as the average owner knows less concerning the value of the timber than any other crop on his farm, he cannot hope to sell it at its true value. What kinds of products (posts, poles, ties, mine timbers, lumber, etc.), are in greatest demand in the locality? What species of trees are best adapted for each? In what sizes should the material be cut? By what unit of measure (cord, lineal foot, board foot, piece, etc.) should they be sold? What price should they bring on the basis of their value to the purchaser? These are samples of the questions that every farmer should be able to answer to his own satisfaction before attempting to dispose of his wood lot products. Even then he may be at a disadvantage when dealing singly with a purchaser who is more experienced in such matters and may have more or less control over the local market. Co-operation among wood lot owners in the disposal of their timber is consequently as necessary as in the disposal of their fruit, vegetables, or grains, and is frequently the only way in which they can secure its full value.

Above all, the secret of success in handling the wood lot, lies in the recognition of the fact that trees are a distinctive farm crop. When this is once thoroughly understood and the same attention is paid to their production and marketing as to other crops, the wood lot may confidently be expected to become one of the most profitable portions of the farm.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES

In some cases the orchardist ought to employ a disinterested person to do his packing.

Line the fruit basket with burlap, two or three thicknesses, to prevent bruising and scratching.

It tries a man's eyes and his honesty as well to see all the worm holes when packing his apples.

The high-headed tree is easier to cultivate, but the low-headed tree makes the fruit picking easier.

The bushel box is a favorite with the average family, because it suits them better than a barrel at one time.

It is generally true that self-pollinated fruit is not as large or vigorous as fruit from crossed-fertilized blossoms on the same tree.

The unsightly trees with rotted and split crotches to be seen everywhere might have been saved had they been pruned to form a central stem.

Never leave a sharp fork, that is, a branch which extends at right angles out from the trunk. Such forks generally split down sooner or later and destroy the entire tree.

The ground dries out more quickly under a high-headed tree and more fruit is blown off by the wind. When you find cross branches rubbing each other cut one of them out.

Some fruit commission men who have a very particular trade are learning that they can get more for apples packed in barrels without heads than when packed in the usual way, and pruned down lightly.

RENOWN WON BY CRIPPLES TALE IS HARDLY COMPLETE

Numerous Cases Where Infirmities Have Not Hindered the Climbing of the Ladder of Fame.

Many persons, crippled in early age, have, notwithstanding their infirmity made a name for themselves in the history of the world.

The notorious, or famous, according to the point of view, French statesman Talleyrand, the friend of Napoleon, and for a time French ambassador at the English court, was through an accident when one year old, rendered a cripple for life. His cunning, cleverness, political penetration, adroit intrigues and ingenious subterfuges were vehemently opposed by the emperor's wife, Josephine, who energetically denounced him as a "cursed cripple."

Both Lord Byron and Sir Walter Scott were lame.

Mrs. Browning, the distinguished English poetess, was of a delicate constitution, and never enjoyed robust health. Her sufferings were due to an accident which happened in her sixteenth year. She was one day trying to saddle her pony in a field when she fell with the saddle upon her, incurring an injury to the spine. The after effects were so serious that for years she had to recline on her back.

In every walk of life, crippled persons have won renown, and proved that their infirmity has by no means hindered their rise up the ladder of fame.

Reader Will Think It Should Have Included an Account of What the Fish Man Said.

There was a man walking through a mountainous region one day selling fish. As he went along he called: "Fish for sale! Fish for sale!"

Going through a valley he chanced to look up and on top of a very tall mountain which loomed into the sky he saw a tiny hut, and closer his eagle eye seemed to discern signs of life. Being an ambitious and painstaking fish man, he settled his hamper of fish more firmly on his back and slowly climbed up to the top of the mountain. When he reached the hut he knocked at the door and a man came out, and he said to the man: "Any fish today?"

The man took his pipe out of his mouth, and looking over the deal, replied: "No fish today."

The man went back down the mountain. When he had reached the bottom he happened to look up and he saw the same man in front of the hut beckon to him. Once more he settled his fish hamper on his back and once more slowly climbed up to the top of the mountain. When he got to within hearing, the man in front of the hut said to him:

"I don't want any fish today or tomorrow, either."

Cured by Suggestion.

Mental healing has long been practiced, but Doctor Berillon of Paris asserts that psychotherapia is the medicine of the future. He does not put his patients into an hypnotic trance, but places them in an environment which creates the appetite for sleep and invites them to repose on a bed and think of nothing. Then he leaves them. They gradually succumb to the tick-tack of a metronome.

When the patient is in a hypnotic slumber, if it is desired that he should be cured of excessive indulgence in alcohol, the psychotherapist suggests to him that he cannot raise a glass of absinthe to his lips, and repeats the suggestion until the prohibition is so engraved on his brain that if he would he could not do so.

Doctor Berillon is frequently consulted by those who wish to be cured of an unhappy love passion. Through hypnotism they obtain their release.

The Butterfly's Immunity.

"The general immunity of butterflies and day-flying moths from attack by insectivorous birds is as strikingly evident in India as it is in England or America, and seems a serious difficulty in the way of accepting the Batesian theory of mimicry. Not only do the birds of this district," writes an Indian correspondent of Nature, "pay no attention to the common butterflies, but the latter seem to despise the former. In contrast with this immunity, I have found that nocturnal moths if forced to take long flights during the daytime, are liable to attack, and in these circumstances stand a poor chance indeed of reaching a haven of refuge."

"It seems, then, that unfamiliar lepidoptera are much more liable to attack than the common everyday kind."

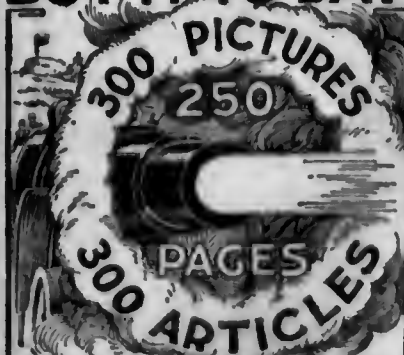

Beware of This Tree.

In the island of Grenada, British West Indies, there grows a most peculiar tree, the only one of its kind in the West Indies. Its leaves resemble those of the so-called sensitive plant, but whereas the sensitive plant is quite a small shrub, the angry tree grows to a height of about five or six feet.

As you approach the tree its leaves begin to shake and the whole tree shivers, but if you venture to touch it, so indignant will it become that it will bend until its branches touch the ground. At the same time it sends out a most obnoxious smell which forces one to retire. After a time the tree recovers and becomes quite placid.

They left the same evening for Trenton, Ky.

GEO. D. HILL

Has Invented An Improved Appliance For Roller Shades.

Geo. D. Hill, the well-known young railroad man, formerly with the L. & N. at Evansville has invented an attachment for a window shade that he expects to prove wonderfully profitable. The appliance can be attached to any roller shade and has a check spring that keeps the roller shade from unrolling to the end and tearing off where it is tacked on. It is the only thing of the kind on the market and Mr. Hill has made his arrangements to form a stock company to put his invention on the market. Some years ago he also invented a concrete railway cross-tie that is being experimented with by several railroads to demonstrate its practicability. Mr. Hill is at present stationed in Minnesota and he was in the city the first of the week for the first time in a year. He has many friends here who are delighted to know of the bright prospects he has for locating on Easy Street.

CHAMPION CONTEST

Big Treat For Billard Fans of This City Monday Night.

Walker Cochran and Harry Cline, both members of the Champion Billiard Players' League, will appear at the Palm Pocket Billiard Parlor next Monday night, Dec. 7th, in the regular scheduled contest of the League to be held in this city during the present season. The game should draw record crowds, judging from the interest shown in the previous contest held in this city.

The contest will be the same as before, four hundred points at 14:1 Balk-Line, the new style of game which created such a sensation during the recent Championship tournament at the Hotel Astor, New York, and caused quite a sensation among the local billiard fans. This game is full of thrills, is most spectacular and beyond question the most difficult known to the billiard world.

Both players are going at top speed and judging from the games played by them in other cities in the League a battle to the finish may be expected.

The League is composed of the billiard champions of the world and all of them will be seen here during the season.

Princeton was selected for the meeting to be held in 1915 and the last Friday and Saturday of November the date.

Dayton One of Five.

The official figures of the Kilty League for 1914, show that the pitching was superior to that of 1913. In 1914 only five players hit 300 or more, while in 1913 twenty-two players reached 300 and better. Only three players who were in the charmed circle in 1913, reached that mark the past season, namely Heckert, Dayton and Ashby. Dayton, of Hopkinsville, climbed up a little, while Heckert and Ashby, each fell about 30 points.

DEATH SUNDAY MORNING OF MANUEL J. HARTFIELD

Well-Known and Highly Esteemed Citizen Passes Away After Short Illness.

At his home on Green street, Manuel J. Hartfield, one of the best-known and most prominent citizens of Henderson, died Sunday morning at 5 o'clock after a short illness, in his sixty-fifth year.

The deceased was born in New York City on July 4, 1850, and has resided in Henderson for the past twenty-six years. Mr. Hartfield had been ill about two weeks and had been confined to his bed for only a week. He was not thought to be in a serious condition and his condition did not become alarming until late Saturday evening, and his death was a severe shock to his family and the entire community. He had been actively engaged in the mercantile business all his life.

The deceased was married thirty-six years ago in Hopkinsville, and is survived by his wife and six children, as follows: Hon. Joseph M. Hartfield and Mrs. James F. Sandefur, of New York City, and Misses Sadie and Resalie Hartfield and Messrs. Monroe and David Hartfield, of this city. He is also survived by one brother, J. Hartfield, of Memphis.

The funeral was conducted from the residence Tuesday morning by Mr. M. Heilbronner. The interment at Mt Pisgah cemetery on the Zion pike was private and in charge of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 9, F. & A. M.

The pallbearers were: Honorary, J. L. Baldauf, S. B. Mayer, C. T. Brown, Joseph Cohen, I. Loeb and M. M. Levy; active, J. B. Hartfield, B. A. Frenkel, Louis Kahn, S. O. Heilbronner, F. J. Gorham and Henry Levy.

The deceased was an active Mason, late of the Hopkinsville lodge, and was a member of Congregation Adas Israel, and was prominently identified with congregational and charitable work.—Henderson Journal.

Japanese in the United States.

There are 95,483 Japanese in this country; 84,882 are located in nine states on the Pacific coast. In California there are 8,000 Japanese children, a 40 per cent increase at the rate of 1,500 annually. Many Japanese are farmers, and last year the raised in California fruits and vegetables valued at $6,235,856. Some are merchants and many are house servants. In California they support nineteen Buddhist temples and twenty-one priests, using our evangelistic methods in their effort to spread the influence of Buddha in America. There are eighty-two Christian missions for Japanese conducted by different churches of the United States, forty-eight of which are located in California. In addition, the Christian Japanese of the state have, since 1911, maintained an independent organization called the Dendo Dan, which employs Japanese evangelists to go to farms and camps to hold evangelistic meetings and thus form material for new churches.

RED CROSS SEALS DECREASE TUBERCULOSIS RATE.

"Would to God your work had started fifty years ago," was the comment of a Arizona consumptive, in writing the other day to Dr. Hoyt E. Deaton, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association. Part of the letter follows: "Fine work, old chap! That decrease in the death rate seems a remarkable gain to me. I had not expected results as soon as that I have always laughed at the authorities who claimed that in ten years a case of tuberculosis would be as rare as one of smallpox is today. The bad work of centuries can not be undone in ten years, and so I marvel at your wonderful progress. I trust the errors in statistics, if any, are all in your favor. You inspire me. Would to God your work had started fifty years ago. Probably then the disease would have disappeared."

The letter contained a check for Red Cross Seals, from the sale of which the entire support of the Wisconsin work is derived. Every seal you buy is a bullet in the fight against tuberculosis.

Remedy For Grafting.

Wang Chih Hsing, the ex-Prefect of Shantung, the metropolitan district in which Peking is situated, has been executed by shooting because of bribery and corruption—for selling offices under him and accepting military rank of Lieutenant General. The case has caused great excitement in political circles in China, especially because Gen. Wang was a personal friend of Yuan Shi Kai. It is reported that the president sent an emissary to the family of the General informing them of his regret at having to fulfill the law in order to stamp out corruption, and of his intention to provide for the maintenance of the family.

Many minor officials also have lost their lives because of dishonesty and opium smokers continue to die at the hands of the soldiers.

VICK'S Croup and SALVE FOR ALL COLD TROUBLES

Might Not Be Alive.

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Ocie Jett, of this place, writes: "I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but he did me no good. Finally, he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even do my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women, it relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggists.—Advertisement.

Audacious Raised.

Passengers arriving in New York on the Lusitania from Liverpool say the dreadnought Audacious, reported sunk off the Irish coast, has been raised and is now in a Hartland & Wolff drydock at Belfast undergoing repairs. According to J. J. Spurgeon, one of the passengers, this report is current in Liverpool and is accepted as true, although the same secrecy is maintained as to salvage operations as was the case regarding the sinking of the battleship and the attendant rescue of her men by the steamship Olympe.

MEASURES

To Be Observed In Avoiding Foot-and-Mouth Disease.

Foot-and-Mouth disease is highly infectious and may be carried on the shoes of persons who have access to an infected herd. The disease may also be carried on wheels of vehicles and in various other ways. Hence one method of spreading the infection results from the visiting of infected farms by farmers and other persons intent on seeing the disease. From an educational standing, farmers and cattle men are, in a measure, justified in desiring to observe the disease at first hand, yet the danger resulting from this greatly over balances the information to be gained and is a practice which should be condemned by all having the interests of live stock raisers at heart. Dogs and cats should be kept tied up, and every method employed to destroy pigeons, buzzards, sparrows and other carriers of the infection. Birds and dogs are not susceptible to the disease but are capable of spreading the infection to adjoining farms.

It is imperative that all suspected cases of foot-and-mouth disease be reported to State and Federal authorities at once, and that no animals suffering from this disease be concealed. They will eventually be uncovered in the routine inspection which will involve a long quarantine of the entire State and which works a hardship on the people and causes a great depression in business. Some farmers are not aware of the seriousness of this disease and the inconvenience it will bring about until suppressed. The heartiest cooperation should be forthcoming from all cattlemen. All suspected cases should be reported to Dr. S. F. Musselman, State Veterinarian, Louisville, Ky.

There is no known cure for this disease. There are several remedies suggested from unreliable sources that are absolutely worthless, both as preventives and as cures for this disease. Do not buy any remedies for this purpose, regardless of testimonials.

Avoid "sure cures" and so-called serums for this disease, and not permit the promulgators of same or your premises. They might bring the infection to your farm from infected herds.

For further information, write to the Veterinary Department of the Experiment Station, Lexington, Kentucky, for Circular 28.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour clashing just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE!

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

This master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Duruy's complete in brilliant manner, is the story of the past five centuries of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year! For the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are making place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

DO YOU UPSET YOUR WATCH?

If You Are Nervous, You Are Apt to "Get Its Goat," Though Nobody Knows Why.

One of the troubles of watchmakers is the man who gets on his watch's nerves. There are lots of customers on whom a good watch is wasted. A good second-hand watch that has kept perfect time for other people will, with certain other people, go irregularly when it is not standing still. It is common knowledge in the trade that watches are greatly influenced by their owners.

Nobody knows the reason, but two explanations have been offered. One is that watches are sensitive to personal magnetism, the natural electricity that human beings contain in varying quantities.

The other is that a watch may be disturbed by the vibrations set up by a footstep which is heavier than the ordinary. The man who puts his heels down heavily usually needs to set the regulator toward slow to keep it from gaining.

One of the mysterious sides of the subject is that watches seldom keep good time on people of nervous, excitable temperaments. — Pearson's Weekly.

TWO MORALS TO THIS STORY

Different From the Ordinary Fable, It Is Worth Giving Some Little Consideration.

There was once a man who thought that the business in which he was employed could get along without him. He would sometimes say:

"Yes, I work hard and probably contribute something to the profits; still I guess if you had to you could do without me, all right."

And again:

"A good many men think they are indispensable. They get the idea that the wheels would stop if they weren't around. That's a wrong idea. I know a great deal better than that."

One day the head of the firm sent for this young man and said:

"You have given me an idea. I have heard you say so often that the business could get along without you, and it has had such a psychological effect upon me that I am willing to take you at your word and save your wages. Here is your envelope. Good-by."

Morals—Of which there are two, and you may take your choice.

The first one is: Modesty is pretty likely to be its own reward.

The second: It doesn't always pay to advertise.—Life.

Keep It Handy For

Rheumatism

No use to squirm and wince and try to wear out your Rheumatism. It will wear you out instead. Apply some Sloan's Liniment. Need not rub it in—just let it penetrate all through the affected parts, relieve the soreness and draw the pain. You get ease at once and feel so much better you want to go right out and tell other sufferers about Sloan's. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25c. of any druggist and have it in the house—against Colds, Sore and Swollen Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica and like ailments. "The Days That Are No More."

The power of first love has received so much poetic attention that we can afford to smile at the serio-comic twist that John P., an ancient Rhode Island worthy, once gave it. The old gentleman's habits and manners were as primitive as the time at which he lived. John P. married twice. On his second wedding journey, he visited a business acquaintance in a Massachusetts town. On his arrival, he presented his bride in this graceful way: "This," said he, is Miss P. 'Tain't 'tother Miss P. I wish 'twas."—Youth's Companion.

Dialect of Croatia.

The dialect spoken by the Croats is practically the same as that spoken by the Servians, but, while the latter use the Cyrillic (Russian) alphabet, the former employ the Latin. Croatia and Slavonia form, together with their former military frontier, a crown land belonging to the Hungarian section of Austria lying between the Adriatic sea, on the southwest, where Croatia has a seaboard of about 84 miles, and Hungary, on the northeast. The Croats (originally Chorvats, mountaineers—from chora or gora, a mountain) are tall and strong, honest, and good-natured. Croatia sends deputies to the Hungarian diet, and there must, by special convention, always be a Croatian in the Hungarian ministry.

A full grown leopard on its way from Germany to a menagerie in Italy escaped from the train at Lecco, on the Swiss-Italian frontier and took to the mountains. Italian gendarmes and several sportsmen armed with rifles and assisted by dogs climbed through a forest without finding any trace of the leopard, which seems to have taken refuge on the higher slopes of the neighboring mountains, and will be a menace to the woodcutters when it finds no food.

DIPPING TANK IS ESSENTIAL

Receptacle May Be Used for Sheep, Hogs and Young Calves—Beneficial in Many Ways.

(By R. A. CURTIS.)

A sheep dipping tank should be on every farm. The tank can not only be used for sheep, but for hogs and young calves as well, so that the entire outfit need not be charged up against the sheep. Dipping is especially valuable in overcoming the ravages of scab, lice and ticks, but it will prove beneficial in preventing eye, nose and mouth troubles. If regular dipping is practised it will not only prevent to a large extent many of the ravages common to sheep, but it will maintain the flock in a much better state of general healthfulness.

There are several proprietary dips on the market which can be used successfully at a moderate cost. Standard dips of this kind are generally used in the proportion of one part of dip to forty parts of water, making a 2½ per cent solution. The best and most effective time to dip sheep is about ten days after shearing. It will take much less of the solution and be far more effective. Dipped in this way the sheep can be put through the tank very rapidly, while if they are dipped for scab or while the wool is on they should be immersed several times and held under, excepting the head, from one and one-half to two minutes. In case of sheep scab all should be loosened so that the dip will thoroughly penetrate the exposed parts.

In the actual construction of a dipping tank the aim should be to provide for efficient dipping and still not have the tank so large as to require an excessive amount of dip. If properly constructed the saving of dip will prove to be an item during the season.

The ordinary galvanized iron tank is the one in most common use, but it is not as lasting as a tank built of brick and then cemented, or the solid concrete vat built in a mold or form. This will cost more, but will last a lifetime, and there will be no bulging or leaking if the masonry work has been properly done. A tank 10 feet long at the top, 4 feet long at the bottom, 20 inches wide at the top and Dipping Tank in Use.

8 inches wide at the bottom, and 4½ feet deep will answer every purpose. The tank should be set 4 to 8 inches above ground to keep out surface drainage and filth. All necessary equipment for dipping should be located convenient to the yards or lots where the stock is kept. This will make frequent dipping less trouble and expense. The animal should be dropped buttock first into the disinfecting solution. A draining floor should be provided.

A Good Ration.

A good ration for a horse that is troubled with indigestion is mixed as follows: Ground oats and corn, five pounds each; four ounces of oil meal, two ounces of salt, a dessertspoonful of powdered gentian and a six 11 teaspoonful of dried sulphate of iron. If the animal refuses the ration a little starvation will make him taste it, when his dislike will cease. Begin with a small quantity of this ration for each meal and increase it gradually until a full ration is being fed.

Supply Good Bedding.

A plentiful supply of dry bedding not only makes it more comfortable for the animal to lie down and rest, but adds to its warmth and in every Snow-Proof Boots.

Members of arctic expeditions have found that gum boots are not proof against the entrance of moisture for snow water seems to penetrate the rubber where the boots are in more or less constant use for a long period of time. This is prevented by an occasional application of shellac, which effectively keeps the moisture out, even when subjected to the hardest wear. Shellac can also be made use of to advantage in coating the thongs of snow shoes for the purpose of resisting the moisture when moving over the wet snow. The shoes thus treated enable the men to make much better headway over the snow with less effort. The thongs which have been treated with shellac are also said to dry out quicker after use than others.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

GERMANY TO BLAME

French "Yellow Book" Reviews The Causes of The European War.

France has issued a formal statement of the causes of the war, putting the blame upon Germany alone. Extracts are here given:

EARLY MOVEMENT.

"It was first in the spring of 1913 that we noted this colossal and expensive military effort which alone can explain the desire to impose the Germanic superiority and hegemony upon the powers of the triple entente. When France responded to this menace by the drafting of the law of three years' service in the army, this measure of defense was denounced in official circles in Berlin as a 'provocation which should not be tolerated.'

"In April of 1913 a secret and official German report defined 'the objective and the means of the national policy' as follows: Convince the people of the necessity of an offensive war against France; prepare uprisings in Russia and North Africa; provide for, in case of hostilities, the immediate absorption of Belgium and Holland.

"These are the ideas extolled in this report; such is the program that, shortly after, we saw the Germans endeavor to put into operation.

KAISER SHARES BLAME.

"We declare that Emperor William, who up to that time had posed as a champion of peace, admitted in the course of a conversation with the king of Belgium that he had finally come to share the ideas of his military advisers. He had planned himself among the partisans of a war which he thought would not be long delayed and the overpowering success of which seemed to him certain. Public opinion, in its turn, permitted itself to be won over by the passions of the military party and to come to consider the affair of Agadir as a defeat for Germany. It regarded the existence of a strong France as a danger to Germany and the breaking out of a European war as the only remedy for all difficulties and all uncertainties.

"These bellicose dispositions constituted a permanent danger for the peace of Europe.

"From a perusal of the six other chapters of the 'yellow book' which are devoted to the diplomatic negotiations carried on in the month of July, there is to be deducted, and supported by evidence, the following impressions: That the combination between Austria and Germany had decided upon war, and that on four successive occasions this combination endeavored to precipitate war by violent proceedings, the purpose of which was to prevent or to insure the failure of all efforts at conciliation. The first of these proceedings was the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia (July 24) which was the origin of this conflict. In spite of the fact that the Belgrade government offered, for the prosecution of the assassins of the Austrian archduke, every facility compatible with its dignity, the cabinet of Vienna summoned the government at Belgrade not only to disavow all complicity with the crime at Sarajevo, but furthermore, to permit foreign functionaries to seek the authors of this crime on Serbian territory.

GERMAN PROPOSAL.

"Vienna gave Serbia only two days to accept integrally these Draconian conditions. In spite of the fact that M. von Jagow, the German minister of foreign affairs, claimed to be in ignorance of the contents of this note (which was nevertheless known to the president of the Bavarian council), Germany immediately, and without restriction, united herself with her ally. The German ambassador came to the quay d'Orsay (the French foreign office in Paris) and endeavored to carry through a proposal which he represented as being peaceful, but which was in reality threatening. He declared that the conflict should remain localized and any intervention on the part of a third power would result in incalculable consequences. This was tantamount to letting it be understood that Austria should have every liberty to crush Serbia and that Germany would have recourse to arms to prevent Russia from succoring Serbia. RUSSIA PEACEFUL.

"The chances for peace now seemed greatly reduced, particularly as the Austrian army began the bombardment of Belgrade, the occupation of which seemed to be nothing more than a question of hours. The powers of the triple entente did not, however, give up all hope of accomplishing something in these last remaining minutes. On one side Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, started a new project for four-sided mediation, a project in which Russia joined at the demand of France. M. von Jagow, to whom this project was communicated, evaded it by declaring that while he adhered to its principle, it was necessary to find a formula that would be acceptable to Austria. He was then invited to formulate himself a proposal of settlement, but he again avoided the issue by saying that he would consult the Vienna cabinet on this point.

"Sir Edward Grey, whose spirit of conciliation seemed indefatigable, then came forward with a new compromise proposition which provided that all powers should call a halt to their military preparations. Furthermore, Russia gave a fresh evidence of her desire to maintain the peace of Europe by offering to maintain an attitude of expectation, if Austria would agree not to undertake any measures directed against the sovereignty of Serbia, even after having occupied Belgrade.

AUSTRIANS BACK DOWN.

"It was then that the cabinet of Vienna, perhaps fearful of the consequences of its irreconcilability and feeling the necessity of taking a step backward, declaring for the first time that it was ready to discuss with Europe the fundamental principles of its difference with Serbia. At the very moment that this work in the direction of reciprocal concessions seemed to warrant a last hope of peace, an irreparable movement on the part of Germany promised to endanger definitely the results acquired with so much labor and to force the crisis to a violent solution.

"At the beginning of the conflict this power, Germany, had commenced military preparations and she continued with feverish haste. At the very moment when her representatives in foreign countries were protesting her pacific intentions, July 31, Germany addressed to the Russian government an ultimatum giving Russia twelve hours in which to demobilize on her Austrian as well as on her German frontiers. The alternative was that Germany would mobilize. This was done at a time when the Russian government had given evidence of its conciliatory attitude and at a time when Austria-Hungary was showing herself disposed to discuss with Europe the question of her note to Serbia.

"There could be no doubt as to the answer to such an ultimatum. From that moment the cause of peace was definitely lost, the reason being this precipitate action on the part of Germany. The obligations of alliances had to be observed, and the great powers were drawn into the fatal conflict."

Send for testimonials from this and other states. Dr. E. W. Hall, 2926 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo. Send by druggists. Advertisement.

Tobacco Coming In.

The tobacco is now in fine season, as a result of the recent rains, and a lot of tobacco is coming in for the opening of the tobacco season next Tuesday. Some are bringing it on the stalk and having it stripped in town, while the farmers are busy in their own barns and will send in their crops ready to be sold. Everybody is hopeful and anxious to see how the weed will sell.

OWLS HOOTING

Large Class Initiated Tuesday Night and More to Follow.

Quietly the local Order of Owls are rapidly increasing their membership. In addition to receiving several new members recently, 26 men elected last Tuesday night and 16 of them were initiated into the mysteries of the Order. Another large class will be initiated next Tuesday night.

An election of officers was held later in the evening, all of the old officers excepting two of the board of Trustees, composed of those members.

All of the members are urged to be present at the next meeting, as several new stunts are to be pulled off and business of importance will be transacted. The night birds begin their hooting at 7:30 o'clock.

BURGLAR ALARM

And a Coon Caught By Police At Stadelman's Shop.

The police were summoned to N. Stadelman's Meat Shop, on Ninth street, Tuesday night to catch a burglar, who could be heard moving about in the house and occasionally would fumble around the telephone, making a sound that was heard at the exchange. Calls were unanswered. When ample preparations to catch the burglar were made, the door was opened and the intruder was found to be a coon that had escaped from a box in the meat shop and was hunting a place to get out.

Right Rev. James Nolan Melvin Mayo
William Ryan W. E. Parso

Edward Clark under the name of John Bright, operates as a mining stock broker. He is a swindler and his system attracts the notice of the postal authorities who place detectives on the case. Clark escapes and goes to a western city where his daughter Dora is in a convent. She knows nothing of her father's knavery, supposing him to be a prominent financier. In the same town lives the Rev. James Nolan, a Catholic Bishop, and his nephew, Clarence Nolan, who is in love with both Dora Clark and Effie Ryan, daughter of an attorney, but the boy cannot decide which girl he loves the better. Just being of age he inherits $50,000 and Dora introduced him to her father. Clark then using his own name induces Clarence to invest his money in his new departure which is another swindle. Clarence proposes to Effie Ryan and Dora, witnessing the scene, is broken-hearted. The name of Clarence Nolan attached to the firm induces many depositors to leave their money in the concern which Clarence handles, but Clark rifles the safe and taking all assets, puts his daughter in an auto and starts on a "get away." The next morning Clarence is attacked by a mob of the depositors and chased into the Cathedral where he is protected by his uncle. Dora gives her father the slip and with the money races the machine back to town to make reparation. Clark is arrested and Dora finds peace in the convent as a nun.

Laurel Combination Range

The range that uses coal or gas at the same time, or separately. Takes the place of two ranges. No tools needed to change fuels. Even the gas-burners remain in place when coal is burned.

Cook with gas when the weather is hot—with coal when the weather is cold. Use coal when the gas pressure is low.

An eight-hole top—four holes for coal and four for gas. All can be used at the same time. Burns less fuel. Always ready—wonderfully durable. Call and let us show you the Laurel Combination Range.
